SEVEN KILLED WHEN TRAIN STRIKES AUTO

Steel Pullman Sleepers on Big Four Piled in Ditch as Result of Grade Crossing Accident

Many Seriously Injured

Occupants of Motor Car Die Instantly; Traffic on Pennsylvania Lines Blocked by Wreckage

Columbus, O., Mar. 30.—Seven persons are dead tonight and 15 are injured in hospitals as the result of the wrecking of Big Four train No. 11, which crashed into an automobile at a grade crossing north of here early today, "buckled" from the impact and the sudden application of air brakes and catapulted from the rails.

The train, composed entirely of steel Pullman cars, struck the automobile, instantly killing its three occupants, a woman and two small children, and hurtled along the wooden cross ties for a distance of more than 100 yards before the engine and four of the coaches turned over on their sides.

An hour behind schedule, the train, one of the most luxurious operated by the railroad, was entering the last lap of its long journey from Boston to Cincinnati, when the accident occurred. Its engineer, Andrew Green, of Cleveland, said tonight he was speeding at the rate of 70 miles an hour when the automobile crept onto the tracks a short 20 feet ahead. He applied the brakes immediately, he said.

The driver of the car was unable to see the train because of a building at the corner and the crossing is unguarded by a watchman.

Car Hit Over Engine.

Eye witnesses of the crash said that the engine and baggage car left the tracks as soon as the locomotive struck the automobile. The train continued, they said, in a cloud of dust and splinters from the wood cross ties, and finally leaped from the right of way, one of the cars hurtling completely over the locomotive.

Scenes of confusion greeted the first runners to reach the mass of twisted steel.

Many of the passengers were still in their berths and others preparing to arise. Many were assisted from the windows and apartments cut in the cars and others, more seriously injured, were carried to the scene.

Ambulances and private automobiles removed the dead and seriously injured, while those but slightly hurt received first aid on the scene.

Mrs. P. S. Hemminger, wife of a local attorney, who with her two small children met death in the automobile, had started on an errand in the country. She had planned to meet her husband at his office later, and he was waiting for her when he received a request to identify the bodies of his family at the morgue.

Besides the three occupants in the automobile, the dead include two members of the train crew, one passenger and a Negro, who was riding "blind baggage" on the train.

The dead are:

Mrs. Frank S. Hemminger, wife of a Columbus attorney, who was driving the automobile.

Robert Hemminger, aged 5, her son.

Derothy Hemminger, aged 3, her daughter.

Honore McInnes, publisher of the Western Reserve Democrat at Warren, O., a passenger.

Joseph William Kline, Cleveland, fireman.

Barry Wilson, Columbus, fireman.

Robert Henderson, negro, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Among the Injured.

Following is a revised list of the injured:

W. E. Green, Troy, N. Y., broken ribs and scalp wounds.

Miss Nannie Quackenbush, Schenectady, N. Y., injured arm.

Allen L. Thomas, negro porter, New York city, leg bruised.

Miss Mary O'Hara, Syracuse, N. Y., nervous shock.

W. L. Schmitt, Cincinnati, skull fractured. Condition critical.

Miss Mary Katherine Johnson, Columbus, scalp wounds.

Capt. J. E. Connelley, Chattanooga, Tenn., slightly hurt.

S. L. Nelson, Bowdoinham, Me., bruised.

Miss Helen Wheeler, Mount Pleasant, Tenn., nervous shock.

F. T. Bettner, Cleveland, baggage man, slight cuts.

Andrew Green, Cleveland, engineer, cuts and bruises.

C. G. Lewis, Boston, cuts and bruises.

Dorothy Koppock, Greenfield, O., arm cut.

Chesler D. Lewis, Boston, fractured nose and lacerations.

Steel Cars Save Lives.

The occupants of the automobile were instantly killed as were most of the others. Robert Henderson died in a hospital later. That more were not killed was attributed to the fact that the Pullman coaches were of steel construction, and did not crumple up despite the fact that their trucks were torn away and they were piled against the locomotive.

The wreckage of the train and its occupants was carried for more than a block.

The track was torn up for a city block and traffic blocked. The Big Four routed trains on its Cleveland division over the Hocking Valley railroad the remainder of the day.

One of the heavy steel coaches was flung over the adjoining tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad, 50 feet away. Another coach came to a standstill ahead of the overturned engine.

Mayor John J. Thomas of Columbus personally directed the relief and rescue work. Every available ambulance and doctor responded to emergency calls.

F. B. Sheldon of Columbus, vice president of the Toledo and Ohio Central railroad, who was reported killed at first, and then injured, suffered only from nervous shock.

WISHES DICTATOR TO RULE COUNTRY

Foster Frankly Admits on Stand
He Would Prefer to Overthrow Present System

(By the Associated Press.)

St. Joseph, Mich., Mar. 30.—Both sides in the trial of William Z. Foster, under the Michigan criminal syndicalism law, rested their case late this afternoon and court was adjourned until next Tuesday morning, when arguments to the jury will begin.

The state prosecutor felt confident as to the outcome when they obtained the frank admission from Foster on the witness stand today that he aimed to see the government of the United States supplanted by a workers' dictatorship in accordance with the Communistic philosophy which he is advocating.

The translation, he said, probably would result in a Soviet form of government similar to that at present in Russia, although he would not regard this as necessary or altogether advisable.

Just before the close of the case Judge Charles E. White stated that he would permit in evidence the book titled "A. B. C. of Communism," which was offered by the state and which had previously been rejected. In this book there are statements of Communistic philosophy which are interpreted by the state to advocate force and violence in overthrowing the government and it is upon this and similar evidence that the state will have to prove that feature of the case.

Foster was examined at length this afternoon on a red-covered book entitled "Syndicalism," of which he and E. C. Ford was the author. This book was published 12 years ago in Chicago and was withdrawn from circulation.

Foster declared he had since probably repudiated it and in his speech today he had never said that he advocated any of the incendiary words which he pronounced while in the United States prison.

The book declared that the purpose of the Communist party was to overthrow the government of the United States and to establish a dictatorship.

THREE HELD FOR DRY LAW VIOLATION

Said to Be Connected With Rum
Running Fleet From Chicago
to New England States

Boston, Mar. 30.—Riding at anchor outside the three mile limit south of Block Island, is the British steamship Avonmouth, with 10,000 cases of fine Scotch whiskey and champagne in her hold. In federal court today Alexander Goldberg and David Perlo, both of Montreal, and J. Della Clark were held for hearing on charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act by smuggling liquor from Scotland. It became known tonight that the presence of the Avonmouth off the coast and the three arrests in Boston were episodes in the same story.

When Goldberg and Perlo were arrested last night by United States marshals in the apartments of Mrs. Clark, also known as Mrs. Lena Costello, it was intimated that the three were thought to be the principals in an extensive rum-running conspiracy. Details of this alleged plot filtered out today, and they included a rum fleet plying between Scotland and the New England coast, of which the Avonmouth was said to be the flagship, and a traffic of such consequence that the representative of a Glasgow distillery accompanied the fleet in person.

C. N. S. STRIKE UNSETTLED

Wagon-Burners, Pa., Mar. 30.—A series of conferences today and tonight at Ashley between General Manager C. H. Stein and Superintendent of Motive Power C. E. Chambers and the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and W. H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, failed to overcome the obstacle to a settlement of a strike of the shopmen.

The railroad officials left at once for New York and President Johnston will return to his home tomorrow.

The "obstacle" which prevented a settlement involves 20 former employees, who the company does not wish to re-employ on the ground that they have been actively hostile to the company's interests during the strike.

CAN SOLVE WALL STREET DISASTER

Herbert Wilson, Former Evangelist, Claims to Have Made Powder Used in Bomb

Los Angeles, Mar. 30.—Herbert Wilson, former evangelist, alleged mail robber, and convicted murderer, has told postal inspectors he can solve the bombing of the J. Pierpont Morgan offices in Wall street, New York, Sept. 17, 1920, the Los Angeles Times will state tomorrow.

The explosive which filled the bomb which killed 16 persons and destroyed property valued at thousands of dollars was manufactured by Wilson, according to his own admission, the Times will state, and sold by him to a man who has been charged with guilty knowledge of the crime.

The bomb which caused the Wall street explosion was designed by Wilson at his home at 1508 W. Santa Barbara avenue, Los Angeles, according to the details of the confession credited to him, the Times will state.

The more intricate parts, including the trigger and the time set, were said to have been manufactured at that place.

Wilson was said to have stated he thought the bomb was wanted by a criminal "mob" for a "coverup" job on a bank vault.

Burns Denies Investigation.

Miami, Fla., Mar. 30.—William J. Burns, director of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, who arrived here today from Nassau, Bahamas Islands, denied late tonight that he was on his way to Los Angeles to look into the mystery surrounding the Wall street bomb explosion two and a half years ago, in which 20 persons were killed.

Miami, Fla., Mar. 30.—William J. Burns, director of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, who arrived here today from Nassau, Bahamas Islands, denied late tonight that he was on his way to Los Angeles to look into the mystery surrounding the Wall street bomb explosion two and a half years ago, in which 20 persons were killed.

New York, Mar. 30.—W. J. Burns, detective agency employee indicated tonight that the founder of the organization, now director of the bureau of investigation of the federal department of justice, was on his way to investigate the Los Angeles Times report that Herbert Wilson, nationally known criminal, had confessed to have helped make the bomb used in the disastrous Wall street explosion of 30 months ago.

WORTHLESS CHECK PASSER ARRESTED

Ex-Major of Marines Said to Have
Absconded with $52,000
Worth of Securities

New York, Mar. 30.—Disguised as an old man, Lewis F. DeRoode of Baltimore, formerly a major in the United States Marine corps, today was arrested as a fugitive from justice in an apartment, Riverside Drive which he was alleged to have occupied with a handsome young woman. He was taken into custody at the request of the Baltimore authorities who said he was charged with absconding with $52,000 worth of securities.

DeRoode, who was said to be 31 and married, was reported by the Baltimore police to have been an executor of the estate of his uncle, Dr. L. C. Carver, a prominent physician residing in Charles county, Maryland. He was alleged to have obtained the $52,000 in securities from banks in Baltimore and Philadelphia on worthless checks. Detectives said they were met at the door of the apartment by the young woman whose name is being withheld. Over her protests, the police entered the suite to be confronted by an old man, with white hair and mustache, bending over a cane.

"We know you; you'd better come through," said one of the detectives, who added that DeRoode then had drawn himself up dramatically and whipped off a false mustache.

According to the police, DeRoode purchased wig and mustache in Baltimore and used the disguise to escape from that city on Mar. 20. Detectives said he donned the disguise whenever he left the apartment. They found he had been shaving when they called and had to don his camouflage hurriedly.

DeRoode is said by the police to have confessed taking the money and to be willing to waive extradition.

FIRE FORCES MOTHER AND FOUR DAYS' SON OUTDOORS

Ogdensburg, Mar. 29.—When he broke out yesterday in the home of Charles Marceau, grocer, at the corner of Franklin and Centre streets, Mr. Marceau and son, Joseph, were forced to carry Mrs. Marceau with her four-day old infant son, Arthur, into the home of a neighbor, O. L. Pourson. Although Mrs. Marceau suffered from the chill, the temperature ranging 15 below zero at the time, it is believed that she will have no serious effects.

The other children of the Marceau family were hurriedly packed and partly clothed to the Pourson home.

The fire was evidently caused by a stove in the kitchen, igniting baby clothes hanging over it to dry. The damage is estimated at $200.

BROOD YETLE WEAVER.

MOONSHINE WAR CAUSES 7 DEATHS

Fighting Began Tuesday Night and Two Badly Wounded Today in Pistol Duel

(By the Associated Press.)

Harlan, Ky., Mar. 30.—Seven deaths which are directly traceable to moonshine liquor is the toll for Harlan county and vicinity since Tuesday night, in addition two men are wounded but the cause of their pistol duel is unknown.

After weeks of peace, trouble suddenly broke out Tuesday night and before noon today seven persons had been killed. Tuesday night Alex Lytle and Claude Short, deputy constables, were slain at the home of W. H. Gilliam, also a county officer at Kitz, a small mining town near this city. The six year old son of Gilliam also were killed during the fight between the men. Details of the tragedy, which came to light today, showed, according to the county officers, that possession of seized liquor was at the bottom of the outbreak.

The second tragedy occurred in Leslie county about 20 miles from here the following day. A posse of revenue and county officers surrounded the home of Isaac Strong and lay in wait until daylight. Kelly Walker, a deputy sheriff, approached the house and was instantly killed by fire from the house.

The posse riddled the house and destroyed.

At the head of Straight creek, about 10 miles from here, Jesse Pace, 35, World war veteran and former chief of police of Harlan, and George Bulcher, 25, of Harlan, fought a pistol duel early today.

Pace, said to have been a member of a rifle team which represented the A. K. B. and won a world trophy in a match between teams of the allied armies, was reported to have been wounded by a bullet from the weapon of Bulcher, who fired first.

After falling wounded, Pace was said to have fired five times at his opponent, scoring five hits within a radius of eight inches on Bulcher's body.

TO EXPEL STRIKING
RUHR RAILWAYMEN

Deputie Issues Proclamation to Go to Work or Be Sent From Ruhr With Relatives

(By the Associated Press.)

Essen, Mar. 29.—A proclamation by General Degoutie, commander-in-chief of the occupational forces, ordered all the striking railroad officials and trainmen to resume work under the penalty of expulsion, was posted throughout the Ruhr and Rhineland today.

The order affects 500,000 Germans, as the families of those refusing to return to work must accompany them into unoccupied Germany.

Approximately 125,000 men come directly under the order.

All the Ruhr and Rhineland railway systems are now held by the French and Belgians, except the line in the Cologne zone bridgehead, which is in the hands of the British. The Germans have continued at work on this system.

The task of expelling the strikers and their families will require several weeks. Special train arrangements will have to be made for conveying the families of the men to the frontier. It is said the German government anticipated the expulsion order and made arrangements for distributing the men and their families throughout various parts of the country. The men are to be given work by the government wherever this is feasible. Under a decree by the international Rhineland commission, the railway workers were notified a week ago by the French that those who refused to serve under the French and Belgians would be expelled from occupied territory during the first week of April. It is said that 1,942 Germans have agreed to return to work.

The sum of $60,000,000 has been set into occupied territory up to date by the French government for the striking railway men and those who have been prominent in active resistance although not on strike.

WORK HERRIN MINE IN BLOOD IF NECESSARY

Witness Testifies of Mine Super- intendent Saying Work Would Take Place Regardless of Effect

WON'T ALL GET HERE

Two Rapid Fire Guns, a "Reel" Gun and Ton of Ammunition to Hold Off Any At- tacking Party

(By the Associated Press.)

Marion, Ill., Mar. 30.—A painful lead suddenly poured on a peaceful countryside from a hidden machine gun and high powered rifles to use guards, killed the first man, an unarmed union miner, slain during the outbreak, witnesses for the defense testified today at the Harris riot trial.

Until the importation of armed guards about June 15, to patrol the mine of the Southern Illinois Coal company while it was being operated by non-union men, witnesses declared that there had been no trouble since the shutdown on April 1.

"We have come down here to work this mine, union or non-union," Lucien Tucker, one of the 15 witnesses who took the stand during the day quoted C. K. McDowell, superintendent of the mine, as saying to him, "we're going to work it if we have to work it in blood." Tell the union men to keep away."

Tucker asserted that McDowell then showed him two rapid fire rifles, which worked from the hip, a "reel" gun operated on a tripod and about a ton of ammunition.

Other witnesses accused the guards of holding up, assaulting and robbing persons passing near the mine on the public road. Some said they had been threatened with death unless they kept away from the mine property.

The witnesses swore they had seen the guards place a gun in position on top of the mine dump and concealed it behind a clump of bushes on June 21. They testified that two or three fellows were sent from this gun before they heard any shots from outside the mine.

The union and now a mine weighman, testified he had heard a conversation on a party line telephone between McDowell and W. J. Lester, owner of the mine, the night of June 20, in which Lester warned McDowell that he had heard that three or four hundred men were on their way to attack the mine.

"Let them come. We're ready for them. But they won't all get here," the witness quoted McDowell, who was slain two days later, as saying.

Alexander testified that the next night, after the shooting at the mine, he had heard Lester telephone again to McDowell telling him:

"Put up a white flag and negotiate a truce with the union men while you trench your men and I will try to get the militia there."

Ed Clemons, said that after the shooting from the mine in the afternoon he saw the body of Jody Henderson, the first of three union men killed, lying near his home half a mile from the pit. He declared that Henderson was unarmed.

Otis Glenn, assistant attorney general, objected to much of the testimony relating to the activities of the armed guards prior to the outbreak, but was overruled by Judge D. T. Hartwell who declared that the testimony was admitted not in justification of the slayings, but as mitigating circumstances and on the grounds of conspiracy.

Judge Hartwell announced that there would be a session of court tomorrow.

NEW YORK FIRE DESTROYS CENTURY OLD STRUCTURES

New York, Mar. 29.—Four century old buildings, lying in the center of the city's oldest manufacturing district, were destroyed today by fire. Under the crumbling rough stone walls two firemen met death and 16 of their comrades were injured. The property loss was estimated at $750,000.

Discovered shortly after 4 a. m. in a 25th street structure occupied by a paper box factory and a wet wash laundry, the fire soon spread to adjoining building, caught chemicals in a lithographic and printing establishment and was raging in four buildings when the fire apparatus arrived. At their height, the flames threatened the Bellevue hospital buildings, a short block away and preparations were made there to remove the patients.

Families and tenants near the fire were compelled to leave their rooms because of the smoke. Infants, left in their cribs by frightened parents, were carried out by policemen.

FOUNDTONE AS WARNING TO SPEEDERS ON BAD CURVES

Reading, Pa., Mar. 29.—A tombstone erected on the Potomac River, near Hagerstown, is a grim reminder to reckless drivers on the highway. The stone, four feet high, has the word "Dangerous" at the top. On the sides, towards Reading, a skull and crossbones appear with the words "Fourteen Miles to the Nearest Hospital."

The tombstone was the idea of Edward Kierstead of Reading. For purpose, he said, was to give warning to drivers of a dangerous curve.

QUESTION SLAIN MODEL'S FAMILY

Brother Admits He Phoned Daugh- ter to Make Good Promise of Government Job

New York, Mar. 30.—Renewing his examination of the relatives of Dorothy Keenan, slain model, late today, Assistant District Attorney Pecora announced that Francis Keenan, her brother, had admitted he was the man who telephoned Draper M. Daugherty, only son of Attorney General Daugherty, after the girl's death and asked him to make good a promise to get him a job in the United States department of justice.

Francis Keenan, who was the first witness called, was questioned for more than an hour and a half by Mr. Pecora and Police Captain Carey of the homicide bureau. For the first time since the beginning of the investigation by the bureau, an official stenographic record of the examination was taken.

Mr. Pecora announced he would continue his examination far into the night if necessary and that he would devote an hour at least to questioning each member of the Keenan family, all of whom were present in the criminal court building this afternoon.

Francis Keenan was accompanied by his mother, his brother, John, his sister, Mrs. Helen Whitson, and by the family attorney, Deacon Murphy, all of whom succeeded in entering the private offices of the district attorney without the knowledge of scores of reporters and photographers who had been awaiting their arrival since morning.

After the examination began, Mr. Pecora announced he would re-examine J. Kearney, Mitchell of Philadelphia, the girl's wealthy admirer, and John H. J. a confidential counsel to Mitchell tomorrow.

DOUBT BURNHAM KILLED BY GIRL

Detectives Searching for Owner of Pistol in Effort to Ascertain Truth of Murder

New York, Mar. 30.—Insistence by the relatives of Miss Helene Zeigler that she could not have mortally wounded Frederick W. Burnham, wealthy contractor, and then ended her life with a bullet in his Grand Central station late yesterday, has led to a search for the owner of the weapon.

"Find the owner of the gun and you will find out who killed her," Miss Zeigler's mother said.

Her father, H. Helene Zeigler, wealthy importer, was usually convinced of his daughter's innocence of the shooting.

"She was my chum," he said, "and she could not have shot Fred Burnham. If she intended to marry him she would have told me about it. The greatest mystery to me is why he kept his marriage secret."

Harry Cox, Burnham's office manager, who was in the office when the first shot was fired, said Burnham did not own a pistol.

Burnham, who as a nephew of D. H. Burnham, wealthy Chicago architect, feared Miss Zeigler, the police contractor, who he said the dead man told him he "was getting married about Helene," and that after their relations during the last few years "he seems to think I ought to find a way to marry her."

TWO CENT PAPERS IN SPRINGFIELD

Experiment With Cent Editions Is Given Up as Economically
Wrong; Not Fair Price

Springfield, Mass., Mar. 30.—The Springfield Union, the Evening Union, and the Springfield Republican and Springfield Daily News will announce tomorrow an increase in price from one cent to two cents for the morning edition of the paper.

The Union and the Republican reduced their price from two cents to one cent a year ago. The Daily News has always sold for one cent, except its mid-week issue which sold for two cents.

The announcement that will be carried in tomorrow's edition of the Springfield Union says in part: "For the benefit of other newspapers that may have been interested in the excursion of the Springfield Press into the field of one cent journalism, it seems permissible to say that the venture offers no attractions from the viewpoint of the newspaper. It is economically wrong; from the viewpoint of the reader it goes against the sense of the fitness of things. He does not want to pay more for anything than it is worth, but he does not want to pay less than a fair price, and one cent is not a fair price for a newspaper that strives to meet the needs of an intelligent public."

RAIN BREAKS UP FOURSONE (OF PRESIDENTIAL) PARTY.

St. Augustine, Fla., Mar. 29.—Main prevented President Harding today from duplicating Monday's New of 30 miles of golf. The President and members of his foursome were pushed back toward the hotel by a rain of 20 hours.

No mean accomplishment for the sufferer, when a steady sprinkle turned into a downpour just as the party was leaving the 12th green. The shower when the rain slackened after a half hour, the presidential foursome dashed to the clubhouse.

The visit of the President and the members of his vacation party to St. Augustine will come to an end tomorrow. Bidding goodbye to this city where the longest stop of the vacation trip has been made, the presidential party will leave by special train for Augusta, Ga., arriving there early Sunday morning. The length of the stay there has not been decided, but it may be until the end of the week.

CANCEL JAP. U. S. TREATY OF PRIVILEGE

Longing-Ishi Agreement of 1917 Consented to Diplomatic Scrip- ple by Two Countries Signing It

CHINA DISLIKED IT

Substitute Washington Treaty Say- ing No Contracting Powers Will Seek Favor of Their Interests

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, Mar. 29.—Cancellation of the famous Lansing-Ishi agreement of 1917, by which the United States recognized the "special interests" of Japan in China, has been agreed upon and will be announced formally by the two governments at an early date.

Under present plans the official announcement will be made simultaneously in Washington and Tokio as a notice to the world that the United States and Japan have cleared the state of the last ambiguity in the relations of the two nations.

Under present plans the official announcement will be made simultaneously in Washington and Tokio as a notice to the world that the United States and Japan have cleared the state of the last ambiguity in the relations of the two nations.

And have each been to equal opportunity and the open door.

From the day it was first communicated to the Chinese government, the agreement now consigned to diplomatic scrap heap has been a source of controversy and misunderstanding not only on the part of Chinese statesmen but between American and Japanese governments themselves. Negotiated in secrecy, it first was communicated to Pekin by the Japanese in a form which was accepted as implying a recognition of Japanese "paramountcy" in China. That interpretation was denied steadily by the United States and the dispute over the exact meaning of the document never was settled.

With cancellation of the agreement, American-Japanese relations in the far east have reverted to the basis of parity laid down in the Root-Thakura agreement of 1905 and reaffirmed and broadened by the 1911 power treaty signed at the Washington conference by the United States, Japan, Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands, Portugal and China.

In place of the agreement in the Lansing-Ishi document that "the government of the United States recognized that Japan had a special interest in China, particularly in the part to which her possessions are common," will stand the language of the Washington treaty, which says:

"The contracting powers have agreed that they will not seek, nor support their respective nationals in seeking, any agreement which might purport to establish in favor of their interests, any general superiority of rights."

The full story of how this change of relationship was negotiated is yet to be told, but it is understood that the advisability of cancelling the much-contested Lansing-Ishi agreement was called to the attention of the Tokyo government by Ambassador Charles E. Warren soon after he went to Tokio and that he followed up and concluded the negotiations before his recent withdrawal from the diplomatic service. In these discussions, he is said to have taken the position that a new and better day in far eastern relationships promised by the arms conference agreement, the United States and Japan could not afford to continue in force an agreement which aroused great suspicion in China and whose meaning was in dispute.

LIFE BEYOND DEATH

Easter's Revelation Has Spurred New Vistas.

Natural Science Effort to the Possession of the Great Secret and Revelation.

Master brings revelation to the audience.

All the modern sciences conduct man as far as death, and then they stop. The door of the tomb is a wall, tall, strong and impenetrable by them. Biology, geology, astronomy, chemistry, physiology, botany and its other divisions bring us on, with an always increasing precision, to an understanding of this function and activities up to that point. There they drop us, for beyond death natural science has not ventured to go. It has no formula to express anything on the other side of the closed door of death.

And after much bruising of brain, and vain beating of heads against that obstacle, in confusion mind boggles, it has come to an impasse. It declares that because it cannot pass, that there is no passage, nothing beyond—the tomb is the end of all!

Either that, or it accepts the Master's revelation—as it must, if it will be fair towards evidence, towards historical revelation and towards theology. "The queen of all the sciences"—and acknowledges that Easter's revelation crowns all human knowledge, and opens before it new, endless vistas for exploration and future progress.

It would be a sorry conclusion to all science if it brought us only to an ending in the corruption, the annihilation of death. And an unsatisfactory ending!

For the great majority of mankind never has, and never will believe that the closed tomb ends everything! Life here is too full of inequalities to make that just! The analogy is nature, which finds no definite ending for anything else but life, help to prove it true! And justness and truth are the keystones upon which natural science builds up all its theories to arrive at ultimate fact.

Science, which is perhaps the projection of the finest and best of humanity, needs Master. For Science cannot avert death! Men live to their throes and ten, or beyond that for a few years of labor and sorrow, as they did in the Palestine days, before science had traveled very far along the roads of development.

But since Master rolled away the wall from the tomb, science may now claim to bring man onto the threshold of a new and glorified life, the resurrection life. The tomb is now but an episode in lives which were always immortal.

Master shows the tomb is open on the other side from us—open onto a new garden of Eden and life, the Paradise of God. And since day it is to be open on our side also, and let those who have lived out into life beyond death, which cannot be bound between a birth and a death.

For one may actually, undeniably went through the tomb into that Paradise, and came back at Easter with an everlasting, undying body!

Just as the little crows learn up stiff and straight, as a prophecy that all the temporarily dead bulbs and roots and seeds will arise in their own time.

Science teaches the imperishability of matter, and it is true logically endowed when, advancing a step, it teaches also the immortality of man.

There then is but another step upward, to a grateful acknowledgment of the truth taught by the well attested fact of the Resurrection, that as He rose so shall all our dead also arise at the great Easter, which shall fulfill the promise of all the Scriptures!

It is the mission of the Church which is His Body here and now to complete the thus inspired teaching of the natural sciences, and show us to every one who really desires so to do may spend eternally along with its King and Owner, after the last Easter has opened for ever the tomb of death!

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY

Co-operation.
The American Legion took a commendable step when, meeting in Harrisburg yesterday, it adopted a resolution favoring closer cooperation with other veterans organizations. It has a good sound. The veteran associations do, or should, have much in common and the same ends to serve. Their members all fought for the same cause under the same flag and for very much the same principles. They are fathers and sons, or if not that, brothers, and they ought to be very close to each other, indeed. (Harrisburg Telegraph.)

No Comfort in Jazz.
Jazz may have its place as a stimulant to morale, as a sedative for nervous tension, but it can never supplant the good old hymns of the reformation era as a spiritual solace. Whether there is always definite proof that, in dimsters, hymns are sung, or not, always the chronicler thinks of hymns as the most suitable because they occur to him as the most comforting. No one ever heard of a ship going down with its passengers singing a shoulder shaking ditty. It doesn't occur to the musician. (Williamport Gazette and Bulletin.)

Home Rule.
The right of reconsideration and revision of loan votes is proper and consistent with the principles of home rule. The potential of purpose to upset desirable transit plans and to confuse transit and municipal policies by mixing them, is one of the disadvantages that obviously threatens. But as against the potential of misuse there are the provisions of the bill requiring that changes proposed shall be submitted to the people and be determined by them at the polls, and that, in the last analysis, must be the protection against abuse of power in this instance as in other phases of municipal government. (Philadelphia Bulletin.)

Daylight Saving.
Aside from the trouble it gives the mothers of romping children, daylight saving offers many advantages. But it does not work to a nationwide advantage unless there is a nationwide, or at least a statewide, adoption of the scheme. If the daylight saving is worth what its proponents claim for it, a serious effort should be made to have it adopted by the national government. And until it is established by congress there will be confusion and dissatisfaction throughout the nation. (Johnstown Ledger.)

SILENT RADIO NIGHTS

Broadcasting Stations in Chicago Co-operate to Aid Distance Receiving.

Chicago, Mar. 30.—"Silent nights," when local radio-phone broadcasting stations forego the presentation of programs, inaugurated a week or so ago, have resulted in many records of long distance reception, according to a compilation of reports made here recently. Monday nights were temporarily adopted by the Chicago broadcast stations for the experiment in response to many requests for "silent nights," and will be continued, it was said, until the popular demand wanes. A plan whereby "silent nights" be followed by broadcasting stations throughout the country was now being followed following the inauguration of Chicago's silence. Under this plan stations in a certain district would not broadcast on Monday night, another district would not broadcast on Tuesday night, and so on throughout the week. It was pointed out that in this way the entire country would have a silent night once a week.

Objection to "silent nights" has been raised by radio fans owning crystal detector sets, which ordinarily are capable of receiving telephone signals for a distance of only 25 miles. It is estimated that from one-third to one-half of the radio telephone receiving sets in Chicago use crystals. Only receivers using audio bulb detectors are certain of long distance reception.

Inauguration of "silent nights" has brought prominently to the radio fan's attention the phenomena of "fading," encountered only when listening to far away stations. "Fading," for which radio experts say there is no present remedy, it was explained, caused the receiving signal to become so faint as to be almost inaudible. A few of music at fair volume. Gradually it begins to diminish, then slowly returns to its original intensity, only to recede again. Several theories have been offered in explanation, one of them being that some atmospheric condition absorbs the energy being sent out by the broadcaster.

Dance Nation of Farmers.

Denmark is divided into a quarter of a million farms or one farm for every 12 persons. The United States has 6,000,000 farms, but it would have 20,000,000 farms if it were apportioned according to its area in the same ratio as Denmark. Most of the farmers of the little country range from one and one-half acres to a quarter section of land, only 200 of them exceeding 440 acres. Nine out of every 10 of the farms are operated and owned by the men who live on them, the majority of the owners having no other means of support. Most of the Danes are scientific agriculturists and it is stated that 10 acres is enough to enable a man to support a family and educate his children. The chief products are bacon, butter and eggs.

The First Easter

In the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre. And, behold, there was a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it. His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow; and for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye; for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here; for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him; lo, I have told you. And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring his disciples word.

And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and held him by the feet, and worshipped him. Then said Jesus unto them, Be not afraid; go tell my brethren that they go into Galilee, and there shall see me.—St. Matthew, XXVIII:1-10.

AYER WORK AT MERIDALE

Gratifying Assurance as to Plans For Future.

That the great work which was so ably undertaken at Meridale by the late Francis Wayland Ayer is to be continued is assured to readers of The Star, by a communication from Wilfred W. Fry, which reached this office yesterday. The matter is one in which residents of Otsego and Delaware counties are naturally concerned, and for this reason the following letter will be read with interest.

"Many expressions of appreciation of the contribution which Mr. Ayer made to advance the prestige and welfare of the Jersey cow have reached us during the past few days. Needless to say, his passing was a great shock to those who have been closely associated with him in his many lines of endeavor.

"It will interest you to know that Mr. Ayer was vitally concerned in the activities of Meridale Farms and in the herd up to the time of his death. He had expressed the wish that he might be called when at Meridale, among the hills and with the Jersey cows. It was as he desired, and the last days of his life were spent there in conference with Mr. Dutton, Mr. Gold and myself, considering methods for increasing the productivity in breed improvement and practical usefulness.

"Upon me has fallen the responsibility of continuing the work which Mr. Ayer began at Meridale, thirty-five years ago a work to which he brought an unusual constructive ability and one in which he always found great satisfaction.

"The herd is in splendid condition and I will use every effort to make it an all-star herd in Jersey excellence. In my work, I shall have the loyal support of Mr. Dutton and Mr. Gold, Mr. Dutton, who was Mr. Ayer's assistant in the management of the herd for the past twelve years, will continue to carry out the breeding plans outlined by him and to make the regular importations from the Island. Mr. Gold will continue as director of sales.

"All the plans for the herd for 1923 agreed upon in our last farm conference with Mr. Ayer will be carried out with a single exception: The show herd will not be exhibited this year. Tom Dempsey will manage the annual spring sale as advertised, and the fall sale will be held at a date to be announced.

"For myself and associates, I hope to merit from the Jersey fraternity the same degree of confidence, good will and support so loyally given to Mr. Ayer.

"Very truly yours,
Wilfred W. Fry."

Anti-New Laws For Up-State.

It is not impracticable that some of the real estate men of the city may go to Albany on Tuesday next at which time the assembly committee is to give a hearing on the Towner-Boyle bill which would extend New York city rent laws to cover the up-state cities. It is said that the real estate interests have been active in efforts to defeat the measure, as the committee has failed to report the measure may be dropped. It is said that complaints have come of high rentals from many up-state cities.

THE Speed Wagon is delivering the goods quicker and cheaper in nearly 300 lines of business—and the engine is one of the big reasons.

For it's super-powerful—with intake valves located in cylinder head; exhaust valves offset; spark plugs scientifically placed; reciprocating parts built to withstand excessive strain; and cooled to the point where gasoline is converted into usable power, instead of into heat dissipated through the muffler.

Add to this the inner-frame mounting of power units; the midship location of the transmission; its 13-plate clutch; heavy spiral-bevel-drive axle; pneumatic cord tires on all wheels; complete electrical equipment; and a full measure of riding comfort and easy-to-drive qualities—these substantiate the Speed Wagon claim to commercial car dominance.

ELVIN C. LAKE FATALLY HURT

Black Broken by Fall From Tender and Dies in Hingham Hospital—Was Former Oneonta Resident.

Elvin C. Lake, a former resident of Oneonta, but whose home had for the past nine years been in Hingham, was fatally injured at 1:55 o'clock yesterday morning when he fell from a switch engine running light on the main line tracks of the Lackawanna railway opposite Park Dickinson. He was at once rushed to the Hingham City hospital where he died at 2:45 a. m. from a broken spine and crushed side.

Lake was riding on the tender of the switch engine as it traveled north on the main track. About 20 minutes after the engine had passed Park Dickinson, he was missed by other members of the crew. The yard office was notified and a crew sent out on a yard engine found him lying unconscious beside the track near the Rogers crossing. He was attended by Drs. Lake and Feigenbaum, but all efforts to save his life proved futile as in addition to the broken back all his ribs on the left side had been broken and crushed.

Members of the crew to which he belonged did not miss him for some time and later died before he could give explanation of the accident.

The deceased was between 50 and 60 years of age. He is survived by a wife, whose maiden name was Harriet Darling, and by three children, Ralph and Fred Lake and Mrs. Eva Barnes. He was a member of the B. of L. E. of Centennial lodge, I. O. O. F. of Oneonta, and of the Patriarchs Militant of Hinghamton. He has many old friends in Oneonta who will regret his death.

IN THE TREE PLANTING ARMY ALL ARE PRIVATES

Three thousand of the country's tree planters are answering the call of the American Tree Association, D. C., to celebrate the centennial of Arbor Day in 1972, fifty years before it happens by planting the trees now. This tree planting army is unique. Says Charles Lathrop Pack, the organizer of the tree planters, in that all are privates and yet each has a rank, that of a "good citizen". That rank or title was bestowed by Theodore Roosevelt in a speech in which he said: "A people without children would be a hopeless future; a country without trees is almost as helpless; forests which are so used that they cannot renew themselves will soon vanish, and with them all their benefits. When you help to preserve our forests or plant new ones you are acting the part of good citizens."

This army will outdo the accomplishments of the war garden army according to the reports going to the American Tree Association, which makes every tree planter a member who registers his tree and sends you an engraved certificate of membership. The only way to join this association is to plant a tree.

The Nature Club, of Doylestown, Pa., has taken 250 memberships by the planting of 250 trees at its bird sanctuary. The Chamber of Commerce, of Roseville, Calif., made a thousand "good citizen" members. The Girl Scouts, of Riverside, Calif., joined 200 strong by setting out that number of trees. In Texas, Westminster College announces, "one thousand trees by 1925," and makes application for membership in the tree planting army. The Liberty Insurance Bank, of Louisville, gave three thousand trees to citizens for tree planting and registered the tree planters with the association. The Rock Island Lines has started a tree planting campaign in each of the thirteen states in which it operates. In Virginia the Co-operative Educational Association with 1600 Community Leagues will plant on Arbor Day.

Highways are being made Roads of Remembrance. Memorial trees are being planted in thousands of places where the Rotary Clubs, Kiwanis Clubs and the Federation of Women's Clubs are pushing the work. President Harding has in-dorsed Garden Week for April 22, and Tuesday of that week is to be tree planting day. Here is a chance to celebrate a centennial you may never see but your name will be listed in the great army of tree planters if you plant now and earn the rank of "a good citizen".

BELIEVE IN RABBIT

American Children Are Firm in Their Faith.

Inspector of Not, the Youngsters of the United States Will Not Be Shaken.

The Easter rabbit is an inspector, a more fly-by-night pretender to the place of being the magic creature that brings gifts to children on the day that closes the Lenten season. The rabbit's title was made in America and is no more than a couple of generations old. Confectioners and the printers of Easter cards have combined with toy-makers to put the beast across, says a local book shop proprietor who is an antiquarian of some note, according to a New York Sun writer.

It has been possible, he says, to make the children of America believe in the bunny because of a most striking resemblance to the real hare to the ancient traditions of every land about the coming of spring, the Easter egg and all that sort of thing. The rabbit is only doubling in America for the hare, which holds the real title. And a hare is not the same thing as a rabbit. It happens to have somewhat the same habits, happens to look like the white hare featured in German tales for children.

The hare, he says, is born with its eyes open; it never sleeps. The rabbit is born as blind as a kitten and cat-naps continually.

There is the lore of old Egypt, where the hare was the familiar of the gods, even as the cat was her favorite. Pasht, the moon, kept the night watch, so did the hare, which was called "un," meaning opener, or "to open."

There are other tales of the moon and the mystical hare, tales which were old when they were just beginning to cut stone for the pyramids, tales that the Sphinx had to hear when she was only in her teens. In all North African legends the rabbit is out of the running in so far as the myth is concerned.

Even in England the rabbit had no standing in the early days—the days, say, when Chaucer was raving about the sweet showers of April, the road-houses, the jolly pilgrims. In those days they were feeding sleepy heads doses of hare's brains to make them wake up a little.

But, at any rate, American children believe in the rabbit and no country in the world begins even to supply so many effigies of the little creature in cotton and in plaster and in candy to children, or so many pictures of it on all sorts of Easter greetings for grown-ups, as does the United States. Maybe the title has changed hands despite old world tradition.

Beath Is Swallowed Up In Him

Mary stood without at the sepulcher weeping; and as she wept, she stooped down and looked into the sepulcher. And seeth two angels in white sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain.

And they say unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She saith unto them, Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.

And when she had said thus, she turned herself back, and saw Jesus standing, and knew not that it was Jesus.

Jesus said unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She, supposing him to be the gardener, saith unto him, Sir, if thou have borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

Jesus saith unto her, Mary. She turned herself, and saith unto him, Rabbouni, which is to say, Master.—St. John, 20:11-16.

Travels of French Explorer.

DeMonts, the early French explorer, and his band of pioneers sailed Panamaguddy bay in June, 1604, and made the first European settlement north of Florida. He landed on a small island in St. Croix river 20 miles from Moose Island (now Eastport). He did not make a landing on the latter island, for the first house built by a white man was in 1771, when William Ricker settled on Moose Island.

RESTORES "DEAD" GOLDFISH

Woman Hospital Head Drops It Into a Salt Solution.

Here's a real fish story in which a goldfish was brought back to life after it was found "dead" in the Atlantic City hospital. Miss Nellie McGurran, the superintendent, is fond of pets, her special hobby being goldfish, which adorn the waiting room table of the hospital in an aquarium.

Miss McGurran noticed that one of the fish lay inert on top of the water, apparently dead. Gently lifting the fish out of the water she hastened to the dispensary and, calling one of the resident physicians had him mix a salt solution, into which she dropped the fish. In a few minutes it opened its mouth and started to breathe freely. It was then put on a special diet, furnished by one of the physicians, and a goldfish fan.

THE LILIES OF THE FIELD

By Daniel Henderson

When I went up to Nazareth—

A pilgrim of the spring
When I went up to Nazareth
The earth was blossoming;
I saw the blue flowers of the day
Beside a shepherd's fold:
Along the hillside's story tracks
I found the marigold:
The his raised a shimmering spire
Of beauty at my feet!
The poppy was a cup of fire
Among the cooling wheat!

When I went up to Nazareth
I marked how time came down
With blighting dust and withering breath
—You're Companion.

Religion's Duty.

The two sentiments which most inspire men to good deeds are love and hope. Religion should give freer and more rational play to these two sentiments than the world has hitherto witnessed; and the love and hope will be thoroughly grounded in and on efficient, serviceable, visible, actual and concrete deeds of conduct.—Charles W. Eliot.

Refreshment to the Soul.

The dew of the first Easter morning still clings to the simple story of the Resurrection. It refreshes our souls today, even as it did the souls of the faithful ones who came to the Lord's grave.

Proof of Life Eternal Shown in German That Can Be Understood by All.

"But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that sleep."

"For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead."

"For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive."

Amos Wells in a sermon to children says:

"Here are two pots of earth. One is crowned with a beautiful Easter lily, pure and white and beautiful, rising out of its green leaves. The other is black and ugly. But what is this? A bulb, an Easter lily bulb. See! I will plant it in the black earth, and now both flower-pots are alike, are they not? They both contain an Easter lily."

"What, you think they are different? To be sure, one is beautiful and the other is still ugly and black; but I am going to water the last, and make it grow, until it is just as lovely as the other. But what must the bulb I just planted be thinking about, down there in the close black soil? Little it guesses of the beauty and the light and the joy into which it is going to spring up, some day."

"Now do you know why Christ came to earth? It was for many reasons, but this was one of the chief: to tell us that we are really buried in the close, black soil, just as this bulb I planted."

"You look at the great, blue sky and the wide, green earth, and you cry, 'Buried? Why, how can that be?' But Christ came to tell us of a country as much more lovely and bright and happy than this world as it is brighter and better than the black ground beneath our feet, so that we can fairly call ourselves buried while we live here, and can think about the next world as our time of rising and blossoming."—Exchange.

Girls Save Men Stranded in Snow.

Four Boston (Mass.) girls, members of a mountain climbing party, formed a human chain and rescued two men who had fallen into a bear den 16 feet below the surface of the snow, near North Conway, N. H. Hazen Jones and Arthur P. McMullin were lost for an hour when they fell into the den after breaking through a thin crust of snow.

Shortage of 25 Cents Causes Suicide.

Worrying over a shortage of 25 cents in his accounts, John Fabian, postmaster of West Chicago, committed suicide. It is believed. His body was found with a bullet in the head. An auditor discovered the 25-cent shortage.

Team Breaks When Saker Woke.

Oneonta, N. J., was without bread when its only baker, Everett Mayson, went on his honeymoon. Mayson married Miss Lois E. Irving and they went to Atlantic City, N. J. Emergency calls from Oneonta cut short the wedding trip, and the bridegroom hurried home to relieve the famine.

Life Analyzed.

Life is what we make it. Life yields about what we will have it yield. Life is what we make it. Life yields about what we will have it yield. Life is what we make it. Life yields about what we will have it yield.

Steinmetz, Great Inventor, Sees Approach of Lower Food Prices

Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz.

ONE of the most vital elements in the developing of America's great resources of natural wealth, power, and industrial production so that they will be available to all is that of decreased cost of distribution. This is something upon which economists all over the world agree. The added cost in food alone to the average household, due to undeveloped delivery methods, is a large factor in the low purchasing power of the family budget.

The solution of the matter will come, according to Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, the greatest electrical scientist of the times, in the use of electricity instead of gasoline for making all short haul deliveries. Dr. Steinmetz, the miracle worker of Schenectady, N. Y., is in addition to over a hundred important inventions that effect human life, was the discoverer of the secret of bulk supply of electrical energy—the way to transmit high power current over long distances—which made it possible to harness the water supply of the nation and send cheap electricity to every point where it was needed. Now he sees the electric motor truck replacing the gas truck in all cities within a few years.

"One of the greatest evils of our economic system," he said a few days ago "is the high cost of distribution. It will be the electric motor truck that will reduce it. In a few years electric trucks will almost entirely replace the gas trucks for short hauls. Electricity, the greatest driving power known, has never yet been given its full position in the transportation world. The use of electric trucks will mean a saving of many millions of dollars to the merchant and, through him, to the consumer.

"The cost of electricity as fuel for such purposes is less than gas. The repairs come to almost nothing. There are fewer wearing parts, easier starting and stopping, and the speed is more uniform and noiseless."

Dr. Steinmetz is the master mind in the great domain of electricity. Millions all over the world are daily sharing his inventions and discoveries.
